

Abstract of the Invention

The invention relates to a device comprising at least a pair of hard hooks, each containing a gripping portion and a hooking portion, connected by a stretchable cord, preferably a bungee cord. The device is useful for easily and securely fastening a ladder or other lengthy equipment to a vehicle.